Rains Send Rivers Over Banks; Towns Flooded In Dixie

(By The Associated Press)
Drenching rains of the past two days sent swollen rivers in the deep south over their banks today, with others approaching the flood stage. Heavy rains and melting snows also inundated parts of New York and New Jersey in the east, and North Dakota and Illinois in the midwest.

Some 1,200 persons already have been driven from their homes in Mississippi, with two deaths reported due to high waters. Scores of families were fleeing their Alabama homes, with one man reported missing.

At Childersburg, Ala., the Coosa river passed 30 feet early today, and was inching up to its highest flood stage in more than a half century. With a large section of the city under water, national guardsmen and Red Cross workers averted a possible tragic toll of lives. Simple flood stage there is 20 feet.

Said national guard Capt. George M. Limbaugh: "we got people out of trees and off roof tops and got them places to eat and sleep."

Childersburg's main water supply failed, but cooperation by residents gave promise of the auxiliary supply holding out. Residents were asked to use water only 15 minutes every two hours.

The floodwater menace was growing in eastern Mississippi, where the rampaging Tombigbee river was expected to reach a crest of 40 feet at Columbus, Miss., tomorrow. The eastern part of the city already is under water. A 40-foot crest would be 11 feet above flood stage.

At Selma, Ala., a dangerously high crest of 47 feet was expected.

Col. W. K. Wilson, jr., of the U. S. army engineers, flew over the flooded areas. He said damage was, and would be, widespread but that damage would not prove to be of major importance from an economic standpoint.

Loss In Millions
But earlier indications were that damages to homes and stores, roads and bridges, and the loss of livestock and early crops along the river banks might run into millions of dollars.

World War 2 Plants Already Out Of Date

(By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON)
WASHINGTON—(P)—The Senate banking committee says many defense plants and some communities built during World War II will be discarded because of radical changes in sizes and designs of modern weapons.

"None of our existing plants, either old or relatively new, are structurally capable of handling efficiently the greatly increased size and weight of many of our new defense products," the committee said yesterday in a 91-page report to the Senate. It added:

"New methods of warfare such as atomic weapons and other guided missiles will place impacts on localities that never had them in World War II, as well as the location of new plants for varied defense production."

The committee urged speedy approval of a pending $1,500,000 defense housing bill which it said was needed to provide living quarters for workers in the projected new plants.

More than $25,000,000 was spent on plants by private and government agencies during World War II, the report said, adding that many of these will not fit into the new defense efforts.

As one widely known example the committee cited the construction

needs of one phase of the defense program—the atomic energy commission's Savannah river project in South Carolina.

In addition to plants on a 250,000 acre reservation, the report said, housing must be provided for home 35,000 temporary workers who will do the construction. Later some 6,000 permanent workers, who with families and services will total 30,000, must be housed.

Unlike previous AEC installations of "government towns," the new housing effort aims at letting private industry do the building, owning and operating of housing and community facilities.

Casey To Tell; Takes His Time

Statement Awaited On Big Ship Coup

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON—(P)—Joseph E. Casey, who parlayed $100,000 into a $2,800,000 profit on war surplus ships, said today he and the friends who shared the proceeds will answer in their own time questions raised by investigation-minded senators.

Casey has said his investment in the deal was $20,000, his profit $250,000.

Admiral William F. (Bull) Halsey, U. S. diplomat Julius C. Holmes and the late former Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., have been named by the maritime administration as being among his 17 associates in the deal. Casey refused to give their names to a Senate banking subcommittee.

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.), the subcommittee chairman, told reporters his group will decide Wednesday what steps to take about Casey's refusal.

Casey told a reporter he and a number of his associates will meet in New York City Monday. He did not say which ones will participate. He said they would discuss plans and probably agree on language of a statement designed to quiet the future their ship venture has caused since it was disclosed in testimony before the Fulbright subcommittee on March 12.

Three Michigan Election Issues Rate 'Yes' Vote Proposals Up Monday All Have Merit

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING—(P)—Most impartial observers recommend a "yes" vote on the three constitutional amendments on Monday's spring election ballot.

There has been a dearth of public discussion of the issues and little indication of any opposition, but supporters of the proposals fear the traditional public attitude of voting "no" on minor issues may knock these three down.

Annual Session Needed

No one has gone out and campaigned for them, either, probably because the groups affected are, for one reason or another, hardly in a position to do so.

The first proposal is that to order annual sessions of the legislature.

Undoubtedly the Republican legislature had a partly partisan motive in putting this issue on the ballot for the people's decisions; but its impact is one which will run over many years, many governors, many legislators and many political parties. Its needs has been noted by men of both parties for years.

When the state's present constitution was adopted in 1907, the framers believed correctly that sessions of the legislature every two years were all that were necessary, except in emergencies.

The state government was a relatively simple operation then, financial problems were not onerous, tax outlooks were clear and the lawmakers could see ahead well for two years in adopting millions of dollars.

Gen. Clay Predicts Shortages Will Hit U. S. Late This Year

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON—(P)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, leaving his high mobilization job to reenter private industry, predicted today that shortages will hit the civilian economy "hard and heavy" late this year.

Makers of cars, refrigerators and other durables, whose steel supply will be cut 20 per cent starting tomorrow, probably will be trimmed "another 10 per cent or more" in the third or fourth quarters, Clay told a reporter.

The cutbacks have been cautious so far, he said, partly because defense leaders want to avoid widespread layoffs. These

Couple Burned Up In Cottage Note Found In Car At Jersey Resort

MAHWAH, N. J.—(P)—The charred bodies of a man and woman were found last night in the flaming ruins of a secluded Ramapo mountain summer cottage.

The cottage, rented by a New York magazine executive, burned to the ground during a heavy rainstorm.

Fifty yards from the bodies, police said they found the blood-stained car of Dr. Rolf Hoffman, a New York psychoanalyst.

Attached to the steering wheel was a typewritten note, rubber-stamped with the doctor's signature, and requesting that certain of his relatives be notified.

"We're almost sure that the bodies are those of Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman," said Capt. E. J. Thompson, acting chief of Bergen county detectives.

Hoffman, about 64, and his wife, Gusta, 60, a sculptress, resided in a fifth-floor penthouse apartment in a fashionable section of New York City.

An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of the deaths.

A blood-stained hammer and four spent .32 caliber cartridges were found in Hoffman's 1937 convertible parked on the grounds of Dell Brooks Farms, a cooperative summer retreat owned by several prominent New Yorkers.

Pooling Of Resources Assured Approval In West Germany

BONN, Germany—(P)—Ratification of the Schuman plan by West Germany appeared assured today through Allied acceptance of a German compromise plan for breaking up the Ruhr's coal and steel cartels.

German industrialists had demanded that the Allies modify their proposals for dissolving the Ruhr combines before they would agree to the Schuman plan. The plan would pool West Germany's coal and steel output with that of five other European nations.

Allied acceptance is expected to swing the West German parliament's ratification of the Schuman plan. West Germany gave the plan tentative approval two weeks ago on the basis of the cartels compromise.

Chinese propaganda broadcasts have listed, generally correctly, the names of a few American prisoners. But the possibility of unintentional or deliberate error in such information is considered

No Legal Bars Seen To Use Of Atom Bomb If Russia Starts War

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON—(P)—Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) said today there won't be any legal barriers to use of the atomic bomb if Russia starts a war.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) posed in the Senate yesterday the question of whether present law bars delivery of the bomb to the North Atlantic Pact force headed by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Hickenlooper said if the president can assign troops to an international army under Eisenhower, he can also assign military equipment.

Transfer Forbidden

"However, does he have the authority to give atomic bombs and to authorize their use to an international authority which is beyond the complete control of the United States?" the Iowa senator asked.

Contending that Eisenhower is "subject to the discipline and authority of an international council," Hickenlooper noted that under the law atomic weapons must remain "under and within the jurisdiction of the United States."

McMahon said there isn't any question that the bomb will be used in the event of war. But he added in a statement:

"Obviously, if the act forbids the transfer of atomic weapons to foreign nations, then Sen. Hickenlooper raises a straw man in this issue since such transfer is itself forbidden by the act."

"The same military objective could be achieved by the use of atomic weapons at the order of the commander in chief by our own strategic air force which, as a practical matter, is the only group trained and equipped to use such a weapon."

Vote Starts Monday

The atomic war fare question arose as opposing sides in the Senate lined up their forces for the beginning of voting Monday on two troops resolutions.

The resolutions would put the Senate and Congress on record as approving the sending of four additional U. S. divisions to join the two in Europe assigned to Eisenhower's command. They would call on President Truman to get congressional approval of further troop assignments. But neither resolution would have the force of law.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), who wants Congress to write a law about the matter, told reporters he thinks recruits for that viewpoint are gaining rapidly.

Costello Plans Home In Florida, Hopes To Cure His Hoarseness

HOLLYWOOD, Fla.—(P)—Plans are being drawn for a home here for gambler Frank Costello of New York.

Mrs. Costello said yesterday there was "nothing definite to it at all," but an engineer, James A. Young, said he had been employed to handle the job and that William J. Healey was the contractor.

Costello, cited for contempt of the U. S. Senate for refusing to answer many questions at the Kefauver hearings, checked into an apartment hotel with his wife here yesterday.

He said he would stay until "I get a little relief from this cold and laryngitis."

Hollywood is the home of four other men identified by the Kefauver committee as gamblers—Joe Adonis, Vincent Alo and Meyer and Jack Lansky.

O'Brien, Moreau Point Out Case In Support Of Walleye Legislation

Representatives of the Walleye Protective association vigorously supported bills in the Michigan legislature this week at a hearing before the house fisheries committee to restrict commercial fishing operations in waters of Little and Big Bay de Noc.

Walter O'Brien, of Birch Creek Lodge, presented a point by point argument in favor of the proposed legislation. O'Brien explained that the proposal to restrict trap nets to eight feet was first suggested by Delta county commercial fishermen. Few local fishermen have trap nets in excess of eight feet, O'Brien said. Only few walleyes are caught in eight foot traps, he said, because the tunnel openings are small and walleyes are hesitant to enter them.

Trapnet Restrictions

The provision to require that pound nets be set with driven stakes also is designed for protection of Michigan fishermen,

Erratic Bat Steals 'Fledermaus' Scene

BALTIMORE — (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera company presented Johann Strauss' "Fledermaus" here Wednesday night—but the show was almost stolen by a real one.

"Minor Key" is the scene stealing bat's name. He's an old inhabitant of the Lyric theater.

The erratic bat zoomed from the rafters during an aria by prima donna Jari Mila Novotna and delighted an audience of 3,000 persons with a series of fancy spins and Immelmann turns.

Some sections applauded Minor Key's enthusiastic efforts. And the stirring orchestral music of conductor Eugene Ormandy could scarcely be heard.

Theater people said the bat has been in the rafters for the past five or six years and all efforts to capture him have been futile. Minor Key is regarded as a fast bat on the wing.

Dances And Music By Tamburitzans Score Hit Here

A large crowd of dance and music lovers enjoyed the internationally famous Duquesne University Tamburitzans in their concert last night at the William Oliver Memorial Auditorium. Under the able direction of Matt L. Gouze, these scholarship students of Duquesne played, danced and sang the colorful and exotic music of the Southern Slavs.

Costumes Worth $10,000
The first part of the program consisted of numbers from the Slovene, Serbian and Croatian folk songs and were costumed with beautiful apparel brought back from Yugoslavia. The costumes are valued at $10,000 and a display, with an explanation of what they represent, was part of the program.

One of the costumes, a black and white velvet, hand woven linen is valued at $600. This costume is hand embroidered in gold motif. It is the bride's costume. She wears this striking dress for a week after the marriage ceremony to denote that she is a new bride. When the week is up, she must change into a more somber costume which she will wear for the rest of her life. This costume was a museum piece from Slavonia, and was given to the Tamburitzans. Another dress was from Sisok. It had a flowing white skirt of hand woven linen with flowered embroidery. The apron was of lace, and decorated with gold bugle beads.

Czar Nicholas Collection

There were two costumes from the collection of the Czar Nicholas and his wife, also from a museum collection. Others displayed and explained were the business man's suit, a dark brown wool, tight fitting suit with a colorful sash; a Slovenian dress of brown and purple, decorated with gold coins which signify how much wealth the wearer has, another brown jumper dress with white chiffon blouse and a hat—called a hauba, trimmed with a wide band of gold sequins and a tall crown of pleated chiffon.

The Tamburitzans were invited by the educational and cultural group of Yugoslavia to visit their country. They gave concerts for six weeks and, after each concert, they were given one in return.

Tamburitzan orchestras, choral group and dancers performed for them for an exchange of ideas and culture. In return, the Duquesne performers gave them our western, Mexican and modern American music. They toured Europe and returned on the Mohammed Ali El Kebir, an Egyptian ship after a highly successful tour.

Admits Entering Nelson's Store

George M. Moose, 26, of Chicago, picked up by local police on a vagrancy charge Wednesday night, has confessed that he and a 15-year old companion broke into and entered the Nelson Cash Store, 1301 Sheridan Road, shortly before he was arrested on the vagrancy charge Wednesday night, local police have reported.

Nelson's Store was one of three places entered that night but Moose has denied that he was involved in the other two cases. The other places entered Wednesday are Al Wiles Tavern, 1316 Ludington street, and Delta Auto Parts, 1512 Washington avenue. Nothing was reported missing at any of the places.

At first it was believed that entrance had not been accomplished at Nelson's Store, although two windows were found broken Thursday morning. Moose told police, however, that he and his companion had entered the store but were unable to find the cash register. Moose said that he took an orange.

Moose will probably be arraigned on a criminal warrant early next week. His companion, will be referred to probate court for action.

Moose said that he came from Chicago with his companion, who resides in this area, for the purpose of robbing a number of business places and had planned to spend only a few days here.

Shoal Light In Operation Soon

Woodbine Takes Crew To Lonely Station

The Coast Guard cutter Woodbine today plowed through ice-clogged Little Bay de Noc to transport the crew of the Minneapolis Shoal lighthouse to their lonely station 12 miles south of Escanaba in Green bay.

Unoccupied for the winter, it will take until Wednesday to place the powerful light station in operation, according to Anton M. Jessen of Escanaba, officer in charge of Minneapolis Shoal. The light is the principal navigation aid for shipping in northern Green bay waters.

Other members of the crew are Peter Scott, assistant, and William O'Hern. Two enlisted men will join the crew at Minneapolis Shoal later this spring.

The Woodbine will continue here breaking ice in Escanaba harbor under present orders. The cutter has yet to open channels through 18-inch solid ice in the slips alongside the two C. & N. W. ore docks.

There is no definite date on the sailing of any boat for Escanaba to load ore, according to Leonard C. Reynolds, C. & N. W. Peninsula Division superintendent, and Lee A. McMillan, dock agent.

The ice committee of the Lake Carriers' Association is scheduled to meet again Monday in Cleveland. The Straits is still choked with ice and Little Bay de Noc and northern Green bay is not yet open to shipping.

It was considered possible that shipping to the Upper Lakes with the exception of Lake Superior will begin early next week, although definite decisions have not been announced.

According to Howard Greene superintendent of the Marquette water department, who is in charge of arrangements for the program, all employees of any water department in the U. P., as well as interested persons, are invited to attend.

Russell Johnson, Escanaba, engineer attached to the Michigan Department of Health, is working with Greene to plan the program.

The school will cover all phases of water department work, Greene said, and the State Health Department will arrange for speakers for the institute.

In addition to Greene, who is chairman, and Johnson, who is secretary, the following members of the committee to plan the institute met in Marquette this week to iron out details for the session:

Damage Complaints Down 36 Per Cent

Predatory animal damage complaints dropped 36 per cent last year but the conservation department's more extensive 1950 survey also revealed game and fur-bearing animals as getting considerable blame.

Department animal control officers investigated 328 complaints involving predators, 512 the previous year. However there were 591 complaints concerning non-predatory animals. No comparative survey was made on game and fur-bearers in 1949.

Forest Industries Of Lake States Looking Ahead For Timber Supply

THE old-time lumberjack didn't have much education but he knew how to fell the big timber. College-educated foresters have been employed by state and federal agencies for many years, but it has been only in the last two decades that they have been engaged by private industries in this area.

A perusal of the list of foresters who attended the conference of the American Society of Foresters in Escanaba reveals the magnitude of industrial forestry in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. Escanaba and Manistique mills of the Mead corporation, Kimberly-Clark, Bonitas Lumber company, and many other pulp, paper, lumbering and large land-owning companies now have in their employ industrial foresters, with college degrees.

Like the U. S. Forest Service and state conservation departments, large industries are conducting forest research projects individually and collectively. They are cooperating with the Forest Service and other government agencies in experimental work. Pulp and paper companies, for instance, have launched a cooperative research program to find means of controlling the Epoxylon canker which has infested poplar stands in the Upper Peninsula.

Pulp and paper companies of the region are looking to the future. Millions of acres of cutover lands have been acquired for the growing of pulpwood on a permanent basis. They have come to realize that they can no longer depend upon others to assure them of an adequate and continuing supply of pulpwood. They must look after their own needs.

These developments in the field of industrial forestry are encouraging to those conservationists who were at one time concerned about the rapid decline of our forest resources.

Free World Must Press Criticism Of Peron

HISTORY repeating itself can sometimes make an unpleasant sound. That is the kind of noise that's emanating these days from Argentina, home of the bush league dictator, Juan Peron.

Ardent trout fishermen are inclined to turn up their noses at smelt fishing. Dipping with a smelt net isn't sport, they say. But there are a lot of folks who experience much fun at the bonfire-lighted streams during the nightly dipping activities. Hundreds drive here from Iron Mountain, Iron River, Ishpeming and other inland communities. And some visitors come from Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana. It all adds up to a lucrative tourist business at a time when tourist travel is at low ebb.

Another benefit that comes from the Escanaba Smelt Jamboree is the widespread popularity that is given to the Escanaba area as a fishing paradise. Reading and hearing about smelt many folks think about other fishing possibilities; often make plans to come later if they cannot take advantage of the smelt dipping at this time of the year.

Spring Is Compound Of Many Elements

APRIL is a winding path one must follow before he reaches the steady warmth of May. The path can be a wearying trail with cold rains, cloudy days, hesitant approaches and sudden withdrawals. As long as man is man, he will try to discover one single event to which he can anchor beliefs and hopes. The first robin in March is no more proof of true spring than the pussy willows' gray furled noses above the swollen meadow brook.

Spring is a compound of many elements which, when fused in time's crucible, produce the magic that restores winter-tired hearts. Even in a spell of raw weather, you can see and hear, feel and smell the elements that are slowly but surely effecting the resurrection. There are long fingers of green in the lowlands and first green strands are woven into the warp and woof of southern-exposure hillsides. You can see true proof in the gleaming red tips of peony shoots beneath farmhouse windows and in the heart-shaped leaves of violets in sun-warmed woodland glades. The bronze-tips of lilac leaves and the golden bouquets of forsythia are signs that have never failed.

Alders' catkins expand into long tassels and horse-tails push up chunky stalks by the swamp's edge. On sunny days the robins, bluebirds, phoebe, pewees and white-throated sparrows make welcome music around the farmstead and in the woodland. Painted turtles plod slowly across moist woodlands and the screams of red-shouldered hawks float earthward. The voice of fundamental change is heard in the land. Hardwood trees are expanding their buds, and man, impatient for soft shadows after a winter of hard, glaring openness, waits for the green of growing leaves. Sometimes one thinks the first half of April more logically belongs to the winter season. But soon a warm, steady rain will bless the land for two or three days, and when the skies clear and the sun again sends its warmth, we shall know that the time has come. The magic compound is being readied; one day soon all elements will fuse and spring will be here.

Union Station

By Gordon Martin

In the sprawling union station there are many sights to see, and while watching all the people, you may set your fancy free. You can only guess the circumstance of those who mill about, as they meet a train or get aboard another going out. But it's sure a show that's hard to beat—a part of life's parade, and the kind of thing from which the world of great romance is made.

There are newlyweds departing on a joyous honeymoon, and a kid who's off to service and may see the battle soon. There's an actress who is noted for her glamor girlie looks, and some youngsters seeking autographs to treasure in their books. There's a group that knows the splendor of a private railroad car, and the folks who ride all night in chairs to get to places far.

Just plain people are the most of them, on every kind of trip, and a lot of sweating red-caps working fast to earn a tip. Soldiers, sailors, men in cowboy boots, and weary mothers too, trying hard to quiet infants who would cry instead of coo. For no matter where you turn your gaze, romance is ready-made, in the sprawling union station where you watch life's big parade.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — There are more reasons than meet the eye why the Kefauver crime probe should be indefinitely continued. One of them is the general lethargy of U. S. attorneys.

This lethargy is partly due to the system under which U. S. attorneys are appointed—a system which has developed without the blessing of the constitution and which the average layman does not realize exists.

Today no U. S. district attorney in any of the 48 states is appointed without the personal blessing of the leading Democratic senator or Democratic political boss from that state. As a result the district attorney's office has become a matter of patronage—part of the political machine which helps pave the way for re-election.

Naturally the senator who appoints, later influences. And the man who influences a district attorney with his power of prosecution or forgiveness, the power of jail or freedom, in some cases the power of life or death, is a powerful person himself.

That is why senators fight for the self-acquired right to name U. S. district attorneys. They are not given this right under the constitution, but they are given the right to confirm district attorneys; and they have used the power of confirmation in such a way as to hamstring the justice department if it appoints a district attorney or a judge not acceptable to the interested senator.

FDR TANGLED

Roosevelt had the courage to tangle with the Senate and appoint district attorneys on the basis of ability not politics. But not Truman. Truman has had courage in regard to some judges and has bucked the Senate on the appointment of a few judges—as in Iowa with Carroll Switzer; and as in Georgia with Neil Andrews—both opposed by Senators Gillette and Russell of these respective states.

In regard to district attorneys, however, Truman started setting the pattern the same week he became president by bouncing the U. S. attorney in Kansas City who had jailed Boss Pendergast, Maurice Milligan—an attorney whom he, as senator, had vigorously opposed, even held up his confirmation. And having blocked the confirmation of Milligan in Kansas City, he has since permitted senators virtually to name the U. S. attorneys in their states.

This means that local law enforcement as far as federal law is concerned is left largely up to the local political machine set up by the Democratic senators, governors or political bosses of each state. That is why many senators opposed creation of the Kefauver crime committee in the first place. That is also why Kefauver's resolution was held up in the Senate for four months last winter and did not pass until after I personally urged Sen. Scott Lucas, then majority leader of the Senate, that it would put him in a bad light if he did not give it the green light.

Lucas, I understand, has since regretted that decision and attributes his defeat to untimely and unfair disclosures of the Kefauver committee in Chicago. Personally, I was sorry about Lucas' defeat because I regarded him as an able and conscientious senator. However, both in war and in politics, casualties are inevitable in attaining major objectives.

PEARSON NAMES CASES

There are many fine U. S. attorneys who do bang-up jobs. Many, however, take their cues from political leaders, also many become lethargic, forget that it is their job to crusade against crime. Here are a few examples:

In Maryland, last year, alert treasury agents had caught Earl Sheriff, former sheriff of Prince Georges county, right under the shadow of the capitol, taking protection money from the local gambling fraternity. The treasury asked for income-tax prosecution, the justice department concurred and the case was sent to U. S. Attorney Bernard Flynn in Baltimore.

However, Flynn did not prosecute. He informed Washington that the case lacked sufficient evidence. In this instance, there was no indication that Flynn was taking a cue from either of the Maryland senators, though the local gamblers have been tied up with part of the local Maryland machine. But for reasons best known to himself Flynn sent the case back to the justice department.

Later this column published the facts regarding Earl Sheriff, following which he confessed to taking protection money. He pled guilty and no trial was necessary.

A similar case occurred in Alabama, where Sam Dripps and Joe Mitchell had made a small fortune selling jewelry to army PX's but ducked paying income taxes on it. Hard-working treasury agents caught them, recommended prosecution, and the justice department, concurring, sent the case on to John Hill, the U. S. attorney in Birmingham, Ala.

However, Rippa and Mitchell hired Ben Leader, former law partner of the U. S. attorney, and U. S. Attorney Hill eventually sent the case back to Washington marked "No Prosecution." There it sat until this writer dug out the full facts and published them.

Whereupon the justice department reopened the case, went over the head of the U. S. attorney in Birmingham to the U. S. attorney in Mobile. Rippa and Mitchell then went to jail.

Chinese Threat Not Too Serious

Babson Has Faith In Good Old U. S. A.

By ROGER W. BABSON
BABSON PARK, Fla.—Despite the heartbreaking casualties of the ill-fated Korean campaign, I have not been worried about the temporary successes achieved by the Russians. I am confident that the Chinese tide will turn permanently in our favor if President Truman avoids war with China.

I have been in the forefront of those who for some years have recognized that our country would one day face a Communist danger. I do not, however, believe that this Chinese threat is by any means the greatest danger facing the nation. Korea has aroused us, rudely to be sure. It has exposed in all its ugly nakedness Russian duplicity, and its threat to our future and to the peace of the world. At last, even the most stupid of our politicians can now see that Russian victory could mean world slavery.

We may never succeed entirely in making the world "safe for democracy," but our American system is far superior to Russia's in every respect. The Reds may make us dance to their tune for a time but, knowing them for what they are, I don't believe the American people will fall for either the intrigue or violence by which the Kremlin strives to reach its goals. We are too smart to be taken in by their harsh and false doctrines. So I do not fear America going Communistic or being conquered by Moscow's hordes, if we will invest in the soil and forget paper profits.

Enemies Within U. S.

What very seriously distrubs me is our extremely smug assurance that the government of the United States is so strong that it can resist every type of inward corrosion. I was a little heartened by the results of the November congressional elections. They indicate that Americans are not so completely sold on the bureaucratic trend in government.

I like to think that, in addition to laying bare the evils of the Soviet system, the Korean campaign has also focused some attention on "the enemy within" our own government structure. But, I am not so sure even now that we recognize fully this enemy which is eating our substance through loose fiscal policies, make-believe money, unfair tax structures, excessive government spending for non-essential purposes and various inflationary subsidies.

Keeping Economic Freedom

As I see it, the final answer to the Russian challenge is a better faith and a fuller way of life. Despite its organization and the huge sums of money spent by its supporters, the Communist party has been unable to gain any substantial foothold in our nation. Why?

Because here we have a better faith than Communism, and a fuller way of life that prevails in Moscow or any of her satellite countries.

So long as we can preserve the religious faith which has helped so mightily to make us the great nation that we are, we need not fear either the ideology or the arms of Russia. So long as we keep government controls at a minimum and maintain intact freedom to work, to save, to invest, even to risk, in worthy ventures, we shall be safe from Russian imperialism. I believe we will do this and, hence, I am an optimist.

Why Growth Of U. S. A?

Our country has achieved the status of a great power more quickly than any other nation in the whole history of the world. I believe that we have progressed so quickly because, for the most part, we have been true to the ideals of our forefathers. We surely should pay more attention to those ideals now and develop good old-fashioned character and common-sense in our children. Then we will be better able to discern and root out the evils which have been creeping into our government and national life and undermining character and values.

Communism, as Russia practices it today, is no revolutionary idea. Actually, it is just plain imperialism based upon a system of slavery which is as old as the human race. We must not long sit quietly by without preaching more convincingly, and practicing more faithfully, the basic principles of our own American Revolution. One of these is that every family should—for insurance—have some land to till somewhere.

Harry Winchester Gets Writeup In C&NW Publication

ISHPEMING—James Early, of the Chicago & North Western's car department here, describes the deer hunting skill of fellow-employee Harry Winchester in the current issue of the C. & N. W.'s house magazine. Winchester resides in Escanaba but is employed here.

Early's article follows:

If there is one man on the Upper Peninsula of Michigan who knows where the deer are, that man is Harry Winchester. In fact he probably knows as much about it as the deer themselves. This year his buck set a new record for the Peninsula.

Winchester, a one-time brakeman on the Escanaba and Lake Superior railroad, worked the last 35 years as a machinist in the locomotive department at Escanaba and then in the car department at Ishpeming for the North Western.

As a hobby, Winchester has a camp on some 80 acres near Northland, Mich., where he and his two sons and their friends hunt. As a result of his prowess in tracking down the deer, Winchester and his party usually have their buck early. As an ex-railroader and a long time sportsman Winchester knows the Peninsula like the inside of his hand. He recalls the days many years ago when deer by the carload were taken south from Ishpeming, near Kate's lake, and when the limit was three deer a day. In the days of the virgin timber he was braking on the big log trains that moved out of the forests.

One son is presently employed in an Escanaba paper mill, and the other is a taxidermist.

The head of Winchester's record-setting buck this year is being stuffed for mounting.

Beaver Take Is Not Heavy

Trapping Conditions Are Unfavorable

The beaver and otter trapping season in the Upper Peninsula opened at noon Sunday and will continue until noon, April 14, but so far it has been a disappointment to the trapper, conservation officers said today.

The first week of the present beaver and otter trapping season has been a difficult one for the trappers.

Ice on lakes and ponds and many of the streams makes setting of the traps difficult.

Under these same conditions, the beaver do not move far. Many trappers have looked over their trapping areas and returned to their homes to await more favorable conditions before setting their traps.

Officers reported that 3,552 licenses were sold in the Upper Peninsula this spring compared with 3,953 last spring—a decline of 401 licenses. Trapping conditions and wartime employment conditions are evidently the biggest factors for the decline.

The sale of licenses by districts for 1951 was: Baraga, 1053; Crystal Falls, 647; Escanaba, 864;

Newberry, 988. In 1950, the license sale and beaver and otter

take was: Baraga, 1169 trappers

Canadian Ships Help Haul Ore

Truman Signs Bill To Open US Ports

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman signed a bill to allow Canadian vessels to haul iron ore needed for the defense program between U. S. ports on the Great Lakes.

The legislation was necessary because a 1920 law closed U. S. coastwise ports to ships of foreign registry.

Similar exemptions for Canadian iron ore carriers on the Great Lakes were in effect during World War II and in the post war period. The last expired at the end of last year.

Defense officials said at hearing on the bill that this country's steel mills need 91,500,000 long tons of iron ore from the Lake Superior region to keep operation at 98 per cent capacity this year.

The American flag fleet on the Great Lakes, they said, could haul only 82,000,000 long tons under favorable conditions. Canadian ships are expected to transport about 2,000,000 long tons. Presumably, the balance of the needed ore would be handled by rail or other facilities.

Icebreakers now are busy opening the Great Lakes for ore shipping, Congress was told. The season normally runs from late March or early April to the first part of December.

Last year the exemption for Canadian ore carriers did not become effective until the end of June and that, coupled with a short shipping season, cut down the stocks of ore.

New Arbitrator Asked By BRT

One Issue Left In Rail Dispute

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen has accepted a rail management proposal that President Truman name an arbitrator in a long-standing dispute over rules changes.

W. Parker Kennedy, president of the brotherhood, told the Senate labor committee the union's acceptance boils the two-year-old dispute down to one remaining issue.

That deals with a disagreement over a working rule covering the coupling of air hose.

There was no immediate indication whether the three other railway operating unions involved in the dispute would go along with the trainmen and agree to the carriers' proposal to have Mr. Truman name an arbitrator.

D. P. Loomis, representing the carriers, told the labor committee Wednesday the railroads were willing to let the president name an arbitrator.

Previously the railroads had insisted that the arbitrator be Dr. John R. Steelman, assistant to the president, as provided in a "memorandum of agreement" which the carriers and the union chiefs signed at the White House last Dec. 21.

Local union officials later rejected that agreement, and the brotherhood chiefs since have insisted that someone other than Steelman be named.

Drug Cortisone And Liquor Don't Mix; So Father Is Freed

NEWARK, N. J.—(AP)—A Montclair man with a good background has won freedom on a holdup charge because a doctor thinks cortisone and liquor may not mix well.

Harold MacDonald, 31, father of two children, admitted holding up the swank Moresque Bar in West Orange Feb. 25 after drinking four highballs there.

A letter from New York physician Otto Steinbrocker was presented Essex County Judge John J. Francis yesterday.

Steinbrocker, who has treated MacDonald with cortisone for a severe arthritic condition, wrote: "I wonder if the administration of cortisone combined with hard liquor may have caused Mr. MacDonald to do what he did?"

The drug is so new, Steinbrocker said, that its side effects still are in doubt. He explained there was some indication the drug could effect some "transient personality change." He added he felt "duty

The Palmer

A Modern House With Old Fashioned Charm

Rooms	Five
Bedrooms	Two
Closets	Seven
Cubage	18,500 ft.
Dimensions	37' x 25'

Containing five good sized, well planned rooms plus an attached piazza (which could easily be converted into another room if desired). "The Palmer" measures 37' x 25'. The house has a cubage of 18,500 feet while the garage has a cubage of 6400 feet. A 60 foot lot is recommended.

Because "The Palmer" would look equally attractive in any setting, you can build it in the city, the suburbs or the country.

The paneled front door, with two small glass inserts at its top, opens on the small entry hall. A large coat closet, ideal for storing visitors' wraps and the family's umbrellas, rubbers, etc., occupies the entire length of the back wall in this hall way. To the right is an open archway leading to the spacious living room.

Living Room Fireplace

With two windows in the front wall and three in the right wall, the 18' x 13' 4" living room is very well lighted and ventilated. If for reasons of economy you wish to eliminate the fireplace you can do so. However, located as it is—approximately in the center of the back wall and flanked by built-in bookcases—the fireplace is the most attractive feature of this room.

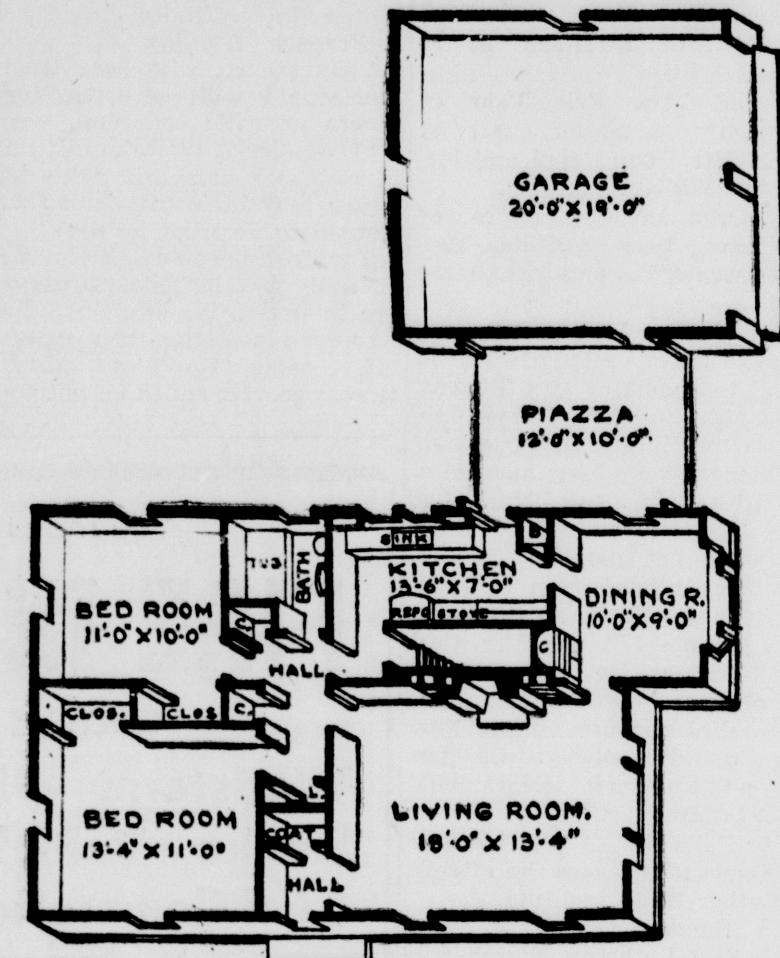

Along the left wall, between the archway from the entry hall and the doorway to the house's central hallway, is a long unbroken wall section ideally suited for the placement of your divan or sofa. You also could use this spot for your television set, if you prefer.

At the right further end of the back wall in the living room is the doorway to the 10' x 9' dining room. The three-paned window in the right wall admits plenty of light and sunshine; also it forms an ideal setting for a plant or knick-knack display.

You'll find plenty of use for the built-in china closet in the left dining room wall, just a few inches from the doorway to the living room. And the other window in the back wall of the room provides additional light and ventilation, helps to make the dining room a very bright and cheerful spot.

The narrow kitchen is planned as a work center. In the right back corner of the room, just beside the doorway to the piazza, is the broom closet, a convenient storage spot for your mops, dust cloths, etc.

Along the back wall are arranged working counters complete with cupboards and cabinets. The modern sink is centered under the double windows. Against the opposite wall, just a few steps from the working counters, is the refrigerator and stove.

Measuring 12' x 10', the connecting piazza is reached through a doorway in the back wall of the kitchen. This piazza can be glassed or screened in, if desired, and floor laundry, you could use this area for that purpose.

The piazza also provides protected entrance to the garage in stormy weather; a door in the back wall leads directly into the garage. With a window in two adjoining walls, the 20' x 19' garage is well lighted. Large enough to hold two cars, it also contains plenty of room for storing screens, garden tools, etc.

Thoroughly modern in equipment, the bathroom is large enough to accommodate both a tub and a shower. It is adequately lighted by one window in the back wall. The large closet, back to the tub in the bathroom and opening on the hallway, can easily be converted into a cedar closet and used as a storage spot for off-season bedding, winter wearin apparel, etc.

One window in the back wall and another in the left wall provide good cross ventilation and plenty of light for the back bedroom. This room, which measures 11' x 10' in dimensions, boasts an extra large clother closet in the front wall.

There also is a large closet in the front bedroom which is 13' 4" x 11'. This room also enjoys the benefits of cross ventilation and since it is the larger of the two bedrooms is the most logical choice as master bedroom.

Two more closets, both opening on the central hallway, provide still more storage space in "The Palmer." One of these closets is placed back to the two closets in the bedrooms. The other, the larger of the two, is located at the very end of the hallway and is ideally suited to line storage.

Soldier Marries His Step-Sister; Family Relations Scrambled

SEATTLE—(UPI)—This is almost as complicated as one of those "I'm-my-own-grandpa" stories.

Pfc. James D. Christensen, 19, married his mother's second husband's 16-year-old daughter.

The wedding Tuesday night climaxed a 30-day furlough for Christensen from Alaska. The furlough gave him a chance to get acquainted with his step-father, George Miller — and his pretty step-sister, Edith Miller.

His marriage to Edith makes Christensen's step-father his father-in-law. Mrs. Miller, who is her son's bride's step-mother, is also her mother-in-law.

"Gosh," Christensen observed, "I guess that makes my mother my mother-in-law."

No poems are written about the water puddles and mud and dirt of spring. The poet's fancy rhapsodizes over bird song, the bursting buds, and the flower roots pushing the damp soil.

The earthy realities of spring, however, are meant on wearing apparel. You can add that new look, and longer life to your garments by timely dry cleaning. Bring your clothing to us, and let our experts go to work on them. Prompt, courteous, expert service always.

All Elections In Which
Free Americans Participate
Are Important

Never before in history has the right to vote in the American way been so vital, for there are forces loose in the world which would destroy that right, that are pleased every time an American thinks his vote is unimportant.

Don't be misled—your vote IS important. Be sure to exercise that right at the spring election on Monday, April 2. Every candidate elected will be making decisions FOR YOU. You should, therefore, have a part in the election which elects him.

Election To Be On Monday

Township Vote May Be Heavy

The biennial spring election will be held in Schoolcraft county Monday, with polls open from 7 a. m. until 8 p. m., eastern standard time.

Because of local contests in several townships, the rural vote is expected to be relatively heavy. A light vote in the city of Manistique, however, is predicted.

All voters will mark three ballots, one containing the names of various candidates for state office, one non-partisan for two justices of the state supreme court, and one amendment ballot.

Rural voters, in addition, will have their various township ballots carrying the names of candidates for township office. Contests are slated for Inwood, Hiawatha, Thompson, Manistique and Mueller townships.

Candidates of the two major parties for state office are:

Two Regents

Two regents of the University: Republican, Roscoe O. Bonisteil and Leland I. Doan; Democrat, Wheaton L. Strom and Murray D. Van Wagoner.

Superintendent of public instruction: Republican, Lee M. Hurston; Democrat, Edgar W. Vaughn.

Member state board of education: Republican, Charles G. Burns; Democrat, Louis J. McGuiness.

Two members state board of agriculture: Republican, Forest L. Akers and Frederick H. Mueller; Democrat, Hiram A. Sackett and Mrs. Raymond W. Starr.

On the non-partisan ballot the following are candidates for the two positions on the supreme bench: Emerson R. Boyles, Neil Reid, Morton A. Eden, James L. Lee, Theodore P. Ryan and C. E. Bron Simmons.

Three Amendments

Three proposals appear on the amendment ballot. One would provide for annual regular sessions of the state legislature; one or a bonus of $500 to survivors of persons in military service who have died or shall hereafter die on service connected causes between June 27, 1950, and the termination of the present emergency; and one would permit an increase of salaries of supreme court justices after election or appointment so that all justices serving concurrently may receive the same salaries.

CHARRED BITS FOUND OF PLANE LOST WITH 53 AIRMEN ON BOARD

LONDON—(AP)—Increasing evidence that a plane with 53 U. S. airmen aboard either blew up or plunged into the Atlantic ocean in flames was reported by search vessels.

The U. S. Destroyer Benner said by radio it had picked up 36 splintered pieces of debris—36 per cent of them charred—over a ten-mile-wide area 600 miles southwest of Ireland.

The Daily Express said all signs "point to sabotage." The air force refused to discuss this theory officially.

The huge four-engined Globemaster vanished one week ago on a flight from Limestone, Maine to the American air base at Mildenhall, England.

Red Wings Backed To Wall; Victory Tonight Is Must

(By The Associated Press)

The world champion Detroit Red Wings, their backs flush against the wall, engage the red-hot Montreal Canadiens tonight at Montreal—and it's a "must" game for the Wings.

The Detroiters, trailing Montreal by two games in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series, must take this game if they want to repeat as title-holders. A 3-0 disadvantage would be almost insurmountable.

Meanwhile, the Toronto Maple Leafs will try to even their best-of-seven set with the Boston Bruins at Toronto. Boston holds a 1-0 edge in the semi-final series.

Detroit doesn't appear unduly worried over the situation with the fire-up Canadiens.

"Their goalie McNeil has been as hot as a pistol in the first two games," said Detroit General Manager Jack Adams. "He'll have to stay that way if Canadiens are going to beat us and I don't think he can. Nobody could."

The Red Wings are in good shape with the exception of Marcel Pronovost, fast-skating rookie rearguard, who had stitches taken in his nose following a collision with Syd McNabney. Pronovost will play tonight.

Dick Irvin, coach of the Canaries, record book and you'll find dienians, is optimistic.

"The team which wins those

1-0 games usually wins the Stanley Cup," he said. "Check back in that I'm right."

Weston Adams, president of the Boston Bruins, says his club is ready for anything.

"We know that every game is different," said Adams. "We were lucky in catching the Leafs off balance in the first one. We threw the first punch and it was a winner."

"And we know that the Leafs will be better for the second game. Our whole squad knows that—and I think we'll be ready for them."

Each team will be short a regular left wing tonight. Vic Lynn, former Leaf who plagued his old team mates with a vigorous game Wednesday night, is the Boston absentee. He aggravated a charley horse—an old leg injury.

Harry Watson is expected to be idle again because of the minor shoulder separation which has kept him on the sidelines for a week. There's a chance that both may be ready for the third game in Boston Sunday.

Frish Says Fork-Ball Hiller Is No. 1 Twirler For Cubs

By JOE FALLS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Frankie Frisch says fork-baller Frank Hiller "is my No. 1 pitcher." This comes as a great surprise. Johnny Schmitz and Bob Rush are generally considered the one-two pitching punch of the Chicago Cubs.

But Skipper Frisch, strings along with the 30-year-old right-hander, something which the New York Yankees wouldn't do.

And therein lies a slice of irony.

The Yanks, seeking to repeat as world champions, are looking for a fourth starting pitcher. Casey Stengel admits the cause looks slim without another starter. Ed Ford was the vital No. 4 last year but the sensational rookie is wearing khaki now.

Hiller could fill that gap. But the Yanks gave up on him last year, selling him to the Cubs. The Chicago management says it was one of the best deals the Cubs ever made. He won 21 games and lost five for them.

So the beefy six-foot, 200-pounder must have enjoyed humbling the Yankees 5-2 yesterday at Phoenix, hurling the first nine-inning job of the exhibition season.

He checked the Yankees with nine hits and struck out Joe DiMaggio on three pitches. Hank Sauer got the Cubs flying with a two-run homer in the first inning off loose Tommy Byrne, who is trying to again become that all-important fourth starting pitcher.

A milestone was reached at Phoenix when Johnny (double no-hitter) Vander Meer of Chicago was sent home. The Cubs, irked with his lack of hustle, are asking waivers on the 36-year-old left-hander for the purpose of giving him his release.

Meanwhile, at Clearwater, Fla., another veteran, Jimmy Bloodworth, delivered handsomely as the Philadelphia Phillies trimmed the Washington Senators, 8-5. The utility infielder drove in six runs with two homers, the second arriving with two on in the 10th inning and breaking a 5-all tie.

Detroit sprayed 15 hits over their Lakeland, Fla., base and smothered the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-4. Everybody got into the Tigers' bat party but Johnny Groth, who went hitless.

At Alpine, Tex., it was pitching that gave the surprising Chicago White Sox their 3-1 edge on the not-so-surprising St. Louis Browns. Rookie Bob Mahoney and Ken Holcombe held the Browns to six hits. It was Chicago's seventh straight victory over St. Louis and the Browns' eighth straight defeat.

In other games, the Boston Braves blanked Brooklyn, 4-0; the Boston Red Sox whipped the New York Giants, 7-4, and Cleveland defeated Pittsburgh, 6-3.

Can't Blame Lipon For Tigers' Slump

LAKELAND, Fla. — (AP)—You can't very well throw any blame at Johnny Lipon, the six-foot Detroit Tigers shortstop, in spring training this year.

But Skipper Frisch, strings along with the 30-year-old right-hander, something which the New York Yankees wouldn't do.

Lipon, entering his fourth season as a Detroit regular, walloped three hits in five trips to the plate to give the Detroiters a pleasing 10-4 win over the St. Louis Cardinals. Two of his blows were doubles.

Johnny drove in five Detroit runs, which ranks as one of the Tigers' most amazing feats this spring. The weak-hitting Tigers boast only three players who have batted in more than five runs in all 14 games combined.

The record book shows that Lipon batted in 13, outfielder Vic Wertz 10, and second baseman Gerry Priddy 9 in those 14 games, only four of which were won by Detroit.

Lipon's .314 batting average easily tops all the other regulars.

Yesterday's win broke a three-game losing streak and was encouraging in several ways,

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(P)—There probably is nothing Bill Veeck would like more than to have another big league baseball team to promote—preferably in New York. Perched on an office desk, Bill took a quick tour from the "iron curtain" to Hawaii, with various detours, but he wound up verbally as well as physically in the big town.

"We (meaning himself and Abe Saperstein) were in Hawaii looking over some Japanese ball players," Bill began, after a quick jump from the Russian embassy in Washington where he had discussed a projected visit inside the iron curtain by Abe's Harlem Globetrotters. "Three of them (the Japanese, of course) looked pretty good. One pitcher can really throw hard and there's a big fellow—over six feet and about 215 pounds who can belt that ball. They're under contract in Japan, but I think maybe we can get them. That's the last untapped reservoir in case I ever get into operation again."

Armed Rebels Land In Albania

Little Balkan Nation May Cause Trouble

LONDON—(P)—Yugoslavia condemned today armed rebels are being parachuted into Albania to fight against the Kremlin-controlled regime of Premier Enver Hoxha.

To combat the apparently growing unrest in the small Balkan Soviet satellite nation, Russia reportedly has sent about a dozen MIG jet fighter planes to Albania.

Directed From Italy

Yugoslavia also declared that the Albanian rebel campaign apparently is being directed by "reactionary" Albanians now living in Italy. There was no immediate comment from Albanian exiles in Italy.

Besides parachutists Yugoslavia said planes are showering anti-Communist leaflets over Albanian cities and towns.

The Yugoslav disclosures were made by Vladimir Dedijer, former Yugoslav information director, in an article in the Belgrade Borba, official newspaper of Marshal Tito's government.

So far as is known there are no western correspondents in Albania and have not been for several years.

"The planes were met by anti-aircraft guns and the government police did not allow the citizens to go out of their houses until all the leaflets were collected," wrote Dedijer.

"Armed groups are being parachuted into Albania and they are fighting there."

Excuse For Moscow

As early as last December, the Albanian Telegraph agency reported that Italian spies had parachuted into Albania. It said four had been killed and one captured.

Dedijer bitterly attacked the Albanian rebels, whom he labelled "Albanian feudalists and other hooligans."

"An attack on Albania would be for the U. S. S. R. a God-sent opportunity as an excuse for Soviet aggressive policy on a broad front," he declared.

Des Moines Woman Swept To Death By Flood On Highway

DES MOINES—(P)—Flood waters early today swept from the road a car carrying Mary Louise Cordingley, 31, former Iowa women's golf champion, and after a search of several hours police said she apparently had drowned.

Miss Cordingley's escort, Boyd Chambers, 25, son of the mayor of Des Moines, was rescued from a tree. He was suffering from shock and exposure and kept mumbling, "She slipped, she slipped."

The two were returning from a dance at the Wakonda Country club and Chambers drove through barricades erected to warn traffic of flood waters roaring across Fleur Drive, the highway into the city.

Although Miss Cordingley was a good swimmer she was in an evening dress and police said she undoubtedly was weakened by exposure to the cold water.

Norman Ginsberg, who arrived shortly after the accident, said he could hear the couple calling.

"We heard the girl calling first, and I told them to hang on because help was coming," Ginsberg said. "They kept telling us to hurry up."

By the time help arrived Miss Cordingley had been swept away.

Explosion Of Water Heater Kills Girl, 3, At Kalamazoo Home

KALAMAZOO, Mich.—(P)—A three-year-old girl was killed today when an electric water heater exploded, wrecking her home near here and breaking windows in a three-block area.

The dead child is Linda Arlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Julian of suburban Parchment. Her mother and a baby brother, David, 10-months old, also were injured, but the father escaped unharmed.

The explosion came at 8:15 a.m. The boiler located in the basement, rocketed through the first floor and the roof, zoomed about 200 feet into the air and landed 500 feet away.

Linda was blown through a window by the force of the blast. She was found in the yard.

Her brother was rescued by a neighbor, Mrs. Robert Charkowski, who found him in his crib. A large block of concrete, which could have crushed him was dangling just inches above the infant, Mrs. Charkowski said.

Both David and his mother were taken to Borgess hospital. Mrs. Julian was reported suffering from shock.

The home, a one-story concrete block structure, was almost completely demolished by the force of the blast, witnesses said. The west wall was blown down, and wreckage strewed the interior.

Allied Tank Men Cross Parallel 38, Challenge Reds

Jumpoff Point Held

AP Correspondent John Randolph, with the border-crossing tank column, said the scene is only eight miles east of where the Chinese broke through Allied lines Dec. 31.

The American crossing came just a week after Republic of Korea (ROK) troops crossed parallel 38 unopposed on the east coast. The ROK force is working northward beyond Yanayang village at a point eight miles or more above the border, and inland where they met some resistance for the first time Friday.

For their part, the Reds slashed back Friday on a front about 40 miles east of where the U. S. tanks crossed 38 and today were holding positions a mile short of Chunchon. That town, in American hands now, is regarded as a logical jumpoff point for an offensive by either side.

The Reds showed more muscle in the air and on the ground as portents of a spring drive they are reported mounting in unprecedented force.

In the air Friday, 80 American jets and Russian-made MIG-15s tangled in what was described as history's biggest jet battle. It was just south of the Yalu river border of Manchuria.

Fresh Troops Arriving

One MIG was reported shot down and four were damaged as 40 of them attacked B-29 superforts during a bombing of Korean-Manchurian bridges and were jumped in turn by the sabres. No damage was reported to the American planes.

The bombers reported knocking out spans of four bridges used for transport of material from Manchuria to the Red battlefront.

Night attack and observation planes reported the Red buildup just north of 38 continued. Fighter bombers claimed they destroyed nearly 100 of 1,800 Red vehicles seen moving with supplies Friday night. They had spotted 2,100 moving Thursday night and 2,000 Wednesday night.

Prior to the tank crossing of 38 north of Uijongbu, a Red withdrawal across the Imjin river was reported some 21 miles northwest of Seoul.

But at least 30,000 fresh Chinese troops were reported taking up positions in the center where the push toward Chunchon developed—not as an all-out Red offensive effort but perhaps as a preliminary to a big push.

Gromyko's Proposals Make Job Difficult For Big 4 Deputies

PARIS—(P)—Russia's latest proposals for an agenda of the projected meeting of big four foreign ministers have aroused fresh pessimism over efforts to agree on the program.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko suggested yesterday that the big four ministers discuss the Italian peace treaty as well as treaties for Balkan nations and, in addition, the question of democratization of Germany and Austria.

One western source said the Soviet proposals "are not likely to make the job of the deputies any easier."

Pennsylvania Prison Has Triple Execution

BELLEVILLE, Pa.—(P)—The electric chair at Rockview penitentiary was tested today for the first triple execution in Pennsylvania since 1929.

Three Philadelphia youths, convicted of slaying two Bucks county men in a holdup in 1947, are scheduled to be executed after 12:30 a.m. April 22.

They are David Darcy, 22, Harry Dietz, 21, and Harold Foster, 25. The Philadelphians were sentenced to death for the slaying of Allen Hellerman and William Kelly during a holdup of a Feathers tavern on Dec. 22, 1947.

The seven-year-old son of a Houston taxicab driver severed a neck vein March 19 when he fell on a stick while at play. Spells of coughing and vomiting and a rare type blood—O-RH negative—have aggravated his case.

Laboratory attendants say they have plenty of O-RH negative blood on hand, but the doctors have talked of using another type blood, one that coagulates quickly. The boy wavers between consciousness and semi-consciousness from shock.

The home, a one-story concrete block structure, was almost completely demolished by the force of the blast, witnesses said. The west wall was blown down, and wreckage strewed the interior.

Saginaw Buried Cash Is Puzzle

Legal Tangle Caused By $10,840 Hoard

SAGINAW, Mich.—(P)—Martin Mikulewicz really started something when he buried $10,840 in two glass fruit jabs beneath the dirt floor of his garage.

The two jars, full of cash, were still hidden there when Martin died a year ago. Then attorneys for his estate began listing his assets.

The two children of Mrs. Agnes Mikulewicz by former marriage took a look at the lists and said they believed there were more assets. Mrs. Mikulewicz had died in 1946.

They said their mother, who died a distrust of banks during the depression, habitually carried money in a canvas bag tied around her neck.

A son then remembered his father said he had buried some money in the ground. Searchers started digging and found the jars nine inches from the dirt floor's surface.

The jars contained 25 100-dollar bills, 10 50's, and 392 20's.

But now the attorneys face a ticklish problem: How and when did the buried money come into Mikulewicz's possession?

If it came from his wife, the six children of both her marriages would share the money.

But if it originally belonged to Mikulewicz only the four children of her marriage to him would be entitled to a share.

Henry Hebert Dies At Age Of 94, Funeral Monday

Henry Hebert, 94, died last evening at 6:30 at the Delta County Convalescent Home.

Mr. Hebert was born October 8, 1856, in Canada. He came to Bark River in 1888 and was a carpenter and cabinet maker there.

On May 17, 1886, he married Exene Douglas, daughter of the late George Douglas of Bark River. Mrs. Hebert died in 1941.

Mr. Hebert is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Helen Lutzenfelter of Des Moines, Iowa, and two granddaughters, Mrs. Anna Mae Walch, Riverside, Calif., and Mrs. Gerald Strahl, Miami, Fla.

Friends may call at the Boyce funeral home beginning Sunday evening. Funeral services will be held Monday at 9 a.m. at St. George's church, Bark River. Father Vladimir will officiate. Burial will be at the Bark River cemetery.

They argue that the small scale fight in Korea has been just as important to this nation as the large scale fight of World War II and that there should be no discrimination between them.

Close Legal Question

The third issue on the ballot is a proposal to permit state supreme court justices to have their salaries increased during their terms of office.

This is a little closer question legally, but not practically, most observers agree.

The constitution now forbids a justice's salary to be increased during his term of office. In other words, he must wait until he is wiped out that lake's trout fishery.

Blind Chicago Woman Asks Widow's Share Of Fields $771,428

KALAMAZOO, Mich.—(P)—A check for $500, his reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Carolyn Drown's slayers, will be presented next Friday to Al Davis, Walhalla, Mich., farmer.

Davis will be the Kalamazoo Automobile Dealers Association's guest of honor at a luncheon here. The organization voted to give Davis the reward offered after the Stockbridge girl's body was found in an isolated cornfield last December 3.

Early in January Davis reported to state police that he had overheard a conversation between Valorous Joe Mattheis and Ray Lee Olson indicating they might have guilty knowledge of the crime. The Vicksburg farm boys were deer hunting guests at his rural lodge at the time.

Mattheis and Olson subsequently were arrested and a week ago they were found guilty of first degree murder. They are being held without bail to await sentence Tuesday, April 10.

Mother Of 5 Jailed For Chaining Child

DOWNEY, Calif.—(P)—A mother of five children is under a 60-day sentence for chaining one of them in the back yard of her home.

Judge A. Daniel Boone made the sentence part of two years' probation after Mrs. Marjorie DeLeon had been convicted of child neglect.

She testified that she chained her eight-year-old son, Eugene, after he set fire to his bed. The boy is now confined to the state mental hospital in Modesto.

Neck Vein Severed; Little Texas Boy Has 27 Transfusions.

HOUSTON, Tex.—(P)—Little Wayne Gideon's throat still bled today and doctors continued a nationwide search in the hope of finding some means to stop it.

There is just one arm vein left through which the lost blood can be replaced, and a transfusion needle stays firmly implanted in it. The boy received his 27th transfusion last night.

Trailer Fire Kills 3

CHICAGO—(P)—A woman and two small boys perished in a fire which swept their house trailer last night in suburban Oaklawn. The dead were Harry Russell, 9, his brother, William 8, and Mrs. Lucille Franklin, 62, who lived with the boys and their mother and step-father.

Skyraider Blows Up, Carries 3 To Death Off San Diego, Calif.

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—(P)—A skyraider carrier-type plane burst into flames, exploded and crashed into the ocean 25 miles southwest of here yesterday.

Pacific fleet air force headwaters here said the three fliers aboard the plane are missing and presumed dead.

The pilot, Lt. (jg) La Verne Syverton, 27, of Coronado, Calif., radioed shortly after 5 p.m. (EST) that his plane was on fire. The pilot of another Navy plane said he saw the skyraider explode and dive into the sea.

Coast Guard and Navy air and surface craft were sent to the scene. A rescue boat found a piece of fuselage and a tire in debris floating on the ocean. The search is continuing.

The other two victims were identified by the Navy as Walter W. Watson, Jr., 24, aviation electronics technician 2/c, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Watson of Battle Creek, Mich., and Donald E. MacQuarie, 25, whose next of kin was listed as his grandmother, Mrs. Alerane MacQuarie of West Palm Beach, Fla.

The jars contained 25 100-dollar bills, 10 50's, and 392 20's.
